The Miami Super Bowl Host Committee Announces Five New County Chairs Representing Miami-Dade, Broward and Palm Beach County

MIAMI, FL – April 18, 2017 – The Miami Super Host Bowl Committee has announced five new County Chairs from Miami-Dade, Broward and Palm Beach counties. These new County Chairs will be supporting the Host Committee’s efforts to showcase the South Florida Community to the world.

The representatives from Miami-Dade County include: Jessica Goldman Srebnick, CEO of Goldman Properties, Matt Allen, COO of The Related Group and Jose Mas, President and CEO of MasTec, Inc. The Broward County representative is Jim Allen, Chairman of Hard Rock International and CEO of Seminole Gaming. Representing Palm Beach County, will be Eric Silagy, President and CEO of Florida Power & Light Company.

“We are excited to have these five outstanding community leaders as a part of the Miami Super Bowl Host Committee. Each of them will play an essential role in helping us reach our goals for Super Bowl 2020. We could not ask for a better group of individuals to represent these three South Florida counties and we look forward to working closely with them over the next three years.” stated Rodney Barreto, chairman of the Miami Super Bowl Host Committee.

Super Bowl LIV was awarded to Miami at the NFL owners meeting in 2016, making it a record-breaking 11th time for the region. It will also mark the 100th anniversary of the NFL.

About The Miami Super Bowl Host Committee

The Miami Super Bowl Host Committee is comprised of talented community leaders who, for more than a quarter century, have worked with both the public and private sector to bring the Super Bowl and its significant economic benefits and media exposure to South Florida. In 2010, South Florida hosted a record-breaking 10th Super Bowl, and for the first time in more than 30 years, also hosted the 2010 Pro Bowl. Both games were considered hugely successful for the NFL and the South Florida community.
